

Brandon Patterson's 2013 Canadian Football League Mock Draft (UPDATED):

ROUND THREE

#19) Hamilton- Micheal Dicroce (Rec)

*The Ti-Cats grab one of the top Canadian receivers with the 19th overall pick. With an aging Dave Stala, Dicroce can rotate in on offence and develop into a starting CFL receiver.

#20) Winnipeg- Stephen Alli (Rec)

*The Bombers grab a big receiver with decent hands and quick feet at number 20. At 6'6", Alli can cause matchup problems for visiting defenders. Alli is a project, and would need a few years to develop.

#21) BC- Hason Shahin (DL)

*Changed from Kalonji Kashama \(DL\)

*BC continues to add to their defensive line depth by drafting Shahin. A good prospect for the Lions at 21. Has the potential to play quality minutes in a D-line rotation. Kashama goes higher than #21 at this point.

#22) Saskatchewan- Matt Vonk (OL)

*Riders use their 22nd overall pick to add depth to their offensive line. Vonk will not come into town to start. He needs time to develop and with a solid Canadian o-line in Saskatchewan, it's the perfect scenario.

#23) Montreal- Yannick Morin-Plante (Rec)

*With this selection, the Alouettes select another local receiving prospect. Drafting Morin-Plante gives the AL's long term depth at receiver for non-import Canadians.

#24) Edmonton- Steven Lumbala (RB)

*Changed from Kristopher Robertson \(DB\)

*With Robertson gone, the Eskimos take Steven Lumbala (RB). In Lumbala the Eskimos add depth to a position that needs it with the departure of Jerome Messam.

#25) Calgary- Co Prime (LB)

*Changed from Simon Le Marquand \(Rec\)

*The Stamps draft a good Linebacker with their 25th overall selection. Prime has signed with an NFL club, but in doing so has dropped him down to where a team is comfortable in taking him.

#26) Edmonton- Chris Mercer (OL)

*Changed from Steven Lumbala \(RB\)

*With Robertson (DB) gone & Lumbala chosen at #24, the Eskimos select another Regina Rams O-linemen in Chris Mercer. Mercer has the size and potential to play meaningful minutes in the CFL. But will take time to develop.

#27) Ottawa- Connor Williams (DL)

*Ottawa drafts the best player they are able to select with the 27th overall pick. That being DL Connor Williams.
